Discussion points: Update on Urban Renewal Plans

The Urban Renewal – Restoring the Heart of Beaverton

If you want to know what is Beaverton's biggest challenge?, What is happening to leverage this opportunity? What is Urban renewal? Where is the district? How does urban renewal work? What program and projects does the urban renewal plan propose? What can urban renewal do? What are examples of benefits in the next few years? What are some of the specific projects? What are the long term benefits? What are the limits on urban renewal? Why consider urban renewal now? Who is involved with Beaverton's urban renewal? Why does it matter to Beaverton? Find out the answers to every one of these questions and more at www.beavertonoregon.gov.BURA or email questions/comments to: urbanrenewal@beavertonoregon.gov or call 503-526-2521.

ITEM DISCUSSED: Penny and Russell Okamoto

Discussion points: Celly

Connect your neighborhood with text messaging. Celly channels let neighbors communicate as a group in real time with texting. Neighbors can text with members on their block/street (like old style phone trees) You can create a tip line reporting lost and found items, incident reports, suggestion box for issues. Each city space, e.g. public parks, can have its own Celly Channel to let citizens text suggestions and receive event announcements. Cities and counties can promote public safety campaigns. Neighbors can promote garage sales. You can create Classified channels, e.g., forsale@myhood, jobs@myhood. There is no app download or smartphone required. It works instantly on any phone. And it's FREE!

To start using Celly for your neighborhood Text START to 23559.
